THE 2013 SPRING/SUMMER CITY GUIDE IS HERE!
Guide to City Recreation & Parks, Youth Bureau, Library & Performing Arts Programs

The 2013 City of White Plains Spring/Summer Guide is now available and is being distributed to residents Citywide. This twice-yearly publication is every resident's guide to programs, activities and events offered by the Recreation & Parks Department, Youth Bureau and Library, as well as other community partners. In person registration for the programs listed in the Guide begins Friday, March 8th and online registration begins Saturday, March 9th.

This publication is always highly anticipated by residents young and old. A veritable treasure trove of information, the Spring/Summer Guide contains everything you need to know about pre-school, youth and teen programs, summer camps, music and theater, adult and active older adult programs, special needs recreation programs, Library programming, environmental programs, as well as information on all of the City's park facilities. The City has partnered with community groups, such as the White Plains Performing Arts Center, White Plains Outdoor Arts Festival, ArtsWestchester, Fort Hill Players, and Music Conservatory of Westchester, so that residents have all the information they need about what to do and where to go in White Plains right at their fingertips.

New programs for Spring/Summer 2013 include White Plains Jump In and Swim Month, LeapSmart Pre-School offerings, Community Drum Circle Workshop, Recycle Art Family Workshop, and a host of new Summer Camp programs. In addition, for the second year, the City of White Plains will again host “The Great White Plains Camp Out,” an overnight family camping experience at Delfino Park.
